IT WAS very interesting yesterday White will give several house parties over the week-end during the summer. various women met to plan for the packing of supplies for our troops. Mrs. Horace Brock presided at the meeting, and told how Mrs. Urquhart's unit had gotten up yesterday morning, shortly after midnight, when most people were coming home from the display of fireworks out at the Park, and were in their places at the Baltimore and Ohio at 3:30 o'clock in the morning, handing out hot coffee and sandwiches to the hungry Johnnies who belonged to Companies A and B, Engineers, the first to leave Mount Gretna and pass through the city on their way to the border.

Then in the middle of last night three units were on hand when the 2d Regiment passed through the city, stopping for about half an hour. Such scenes you never saw and such enthusiasm on the part of the boys! The cheers might have wakened the dead as the first section moved out amid farewells from the crowd and whistles from the police tugs on the river and toots from the engines. The two units under Mrs. Francis Howard Williams and Mrs. George Urquhart, and a third from Oak Lane, worked like mad to give the soldiers coffee, sandwiches and, best of all, tobacco. A lot of women lent their motors to the division that supplies might be carried quickly and easily to the stations.

If the country at large were as well prepared as the woman are it would be well for all. Hand it to the women every time for being ready when duty

A number of women went in the afternoon also to Mrs. Drexel's home and packed individual boxes of condensed milk and canned soup. They say that lemon drops, too, are especially nice for the men on the march. The acid is good for them, and the juice of the drop keeps their throats from becoming parched and dry. Among the women at the meeting was Mrs. Betty Madeira, who did not seem to be quite sure to which unit she belonged, whereupon some one suggested that she be head of one, to which Mrs. Madeira replied feelingly, "Not for gold or precious stones would I be head of anything!" However, she joined in the work most heartily. The meeting yesterday was for Department No. 7 of the emergency commissariat. This department has three objects: First, securing money or supplies to provide refreshments for troops passing through the State: second, cooking or making ready the supplies; third, distributing the supplies. All this in case of war or calamity,

And in the meantime our thoughts turn to the laddies who are on their way to the border, even though the trouble may be averted yet, and to the others who, are still in training up at the camp. One girl I know went up to camp yesterday, and she told she had never seen anything like it in all her life. Everywhere she turned were men sound asleep. The poor souls get up so early at Mount Gretna and drill so hard that they just fall asleep anywhere they can possibly land. Stores are reaching them daily, though at first there were three men in a tent with one gun between them, which poor thing had to be borrowed whenever the different drill times came.

My dears, this is a pleasant thought! nd it will make us appreciate our own table more than we ever did in all our lives; listen! These men, who have many of them appeared to us so well groomed and spandy fresh from the hands of the barber and tailor, are given their food in tinpans six by eight inches long, with a handle attachment. In these tinpans, in a promiscuous arrangement, are potatoes, string beans and stewed prunes together. If by any chance one man does not receive one of these sayory conglomerations he shares his neighbor's. My friend refrained from saying whether she saw them eat and whether they were provided with forks and knives or not. They drink their coffee out of tincups. The men are getting restless, she says, and are anxious to be off to the border. It is wonderful the number of wives and sweethearts who are up at the inn now and in camp all the time. I imagine the commanding officers must love having them around; it helps discipline so much, you know. And she says you ought to see the beards and mustaches and whiskers! They are all growing gay and untrammeled, no waxed ends or such little niceties, Oh! No. And it is all for our dear country! God bless NANCY WYNNE.
